

Photo by Tom Hicken

Kay Im holds up a new Canadian $20 bill she received after going grocery shopping in Toronto, Ont. Oct. 18. The new $20 bill is the country's most widely used bank note and went into circulation earlier this year. According to the Bank of Canada website, the polymer bills are more secure and durable than earlier ones and are easy to check and hard to counterfeit.

Photo by Marta Iwanek

Lex Duncan helps feed his wife Mary Duncan on her birthday on Oct. 20. He is caring for his wife, who was diagnosed with dementia in 2008, in their Trenton home.

Photo by Justin Tang

A participant waves to the helicopter that will scan the giant QR code made by Youth Unlimited North York in their attempt to make the world's largest QR code June 16.

Photo by Jason Prupas

Newlyweds Carter Etherington, left, and Breken Elwood celebrate on their parade float during the Toronto Pride Parade on July 1.

Photo by Vivek McCague

A beautiful day Oct. 8 in Dundas, Ont., was ideal for sightseeing with the fall colours beginning to arrive.

Photo by Vivek McCague

Santa Claus was kept busy giving out candy canes in Meaford Nov. 17.