

Picture autumn in Ontario

Photo by James Wood

Brothers Zuvann and Zumeel Hamilton race along the boardwalk at Lynde Shores Conservation Area near Ajax. The warm afternoon weather brought out many families to the park, and the boardwalk into the marsh proved the main attraction, both for footraces and bird-watching.

Photo by Dawn Barager

(Right) Jessica and Darren McMillan are getting on the bus to go to school. Both attend Beavercrest Community School in Markdale, Ont. They were excited to be going on a day trip to Saugeen Conservation Area to look at frogs and wildlife.

By Guillaume Nolet

Fall reading week is the perfect time to recharge your batteries, spend some time with family or just catch up on school assignments.

Autumn, for some, is synonymous with vibrant colours, maple shacks, Halloween, beautiful sunsets and foggy mornings. For others, it rhymes with melancholy: shorter daylight hours tainted with cold and wet weather conditions.

However you look at it, it is a great time for outdoor photography, especially feature pictures.

With its dramatic forecast, constant tree colour changes and amazing skies, there is no reason why your camera should be staying indoors.

Here is a selection of photos taken in the last three weeks from all across Ontario, highlighting the beauty of our province.

Photo by Dayna Lefebvre

Brooklyn Baker-Chapin plays in the fall leaves in Elmwood Park in Trenton Friday. She enjoys the beautiful mild weather at the park with her family.

Photo by Mitch Ward

(Above) Tourists rush through Nathan Phillips Square on a bleak and rainy Saturday afternoon in Toronto.

Photo by Brianne Ste Marie Lacroix

(Left) Edward Gower, eight, runs through Belleville's Zwicks Park on an overcast day.